LONG TRIP FOR CORNELL CLUB

In Omaha, the Farthest Point West, Next Monday.

PLANS FOR THE BOYS IN OMAHA

Reception in the Afternoon, with Concert at 8:00 in Evening and Dance Later at the Home.

The Cornell musical clubs, which will come to Omaha December 29, are making the longest trip that they have ever attempted. Omaha is the farthest western point and most of the large cities between here and Ithaca will be visited. The first concert after leaving home was given in Rochester, N. Y., from there the clubs going to Cleveland, Chicago, Milwaukee and then reach Omaha. From here they go to Kansas City, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and New York City. Everywhere the clubs are being greeted enthusiastically by Cornell alumni and elaborate efforts are being made to entertain them.

ENGLISH DELAYS TRIAL SO WIFE MAY GET DIVORCE

Several Parties Reach Agreements, Stopping Suits Under Way in District Court.

Casper Schultz, whose trial on a charge of wife abandonment was to have been begun in district court Friday, has offered to pay his wife $500 and to make no resistance to a suit for divorce, if she will start it, if she will drop the prosecution for wife abandonment. Mrs. Schultz has accepted the offer. County Attorney English continued the case against Schultz indefinitely Friday morning. If Schultz carries out his promise the case will be dismissed, if not, it will be tried early in January.

WIFE ABANDONMENT CASE OF THE STATE AGAINST OSCAR HENDERSON WAS DISMISSED ON MOTION OF THE COUNTY ATTORNEY, HENDERSON AND HIS WIFE HAVING BECOME RECONCILED.

The case of the state against Walter Jones, charged with larceny, was dismissed for want of prosecution.

INSTITUTE CHILDREN AIDED

Woodmen of World Lodge Donates Toys for Each Child—Others Help in Work.

The janitor of the Child Saving Institute was preparing to go to bed when the telephone rang and the message caused him hurriedly to array himself in his vesture and hurriedly to advance upon the Woodmen of the World lodge headquarters. Alpha camp had telephoned that upon the camp's own Christmas tree hung a lot of toys for the children of the institute and that if the institute wanted them it had best send a messenger at once. The toys were so numerous that each child will get one of them.

A letter received by Superintendent A. W. Clark Thursday says: "Enclosed please find $5 for a merry Christmas for number 500."
No such number is on the books of the institute and the intent of the anonymous writer, a woman, is probably to give the money to any child of children. Other gifts similarly designated and similar anonymous have been received through the year.

New Books

THE FLYING MERCURY. By Eleanor Ingram. 195 Pp. $1.50. Bobbs-Merrill company.

This book tells a charming love story between a manly young fellow and a sweet and gentle girl. Besides the love story we follow the development of a quarrel between father and son and witness the saving of a fine young fellow from his inherited weaknesses. The motor races and the rescue of the young man, who is the hero's cousin, are all excellently worked up together.

SALOMY JANE. By Bret Harte. 75 Pp. H. Houghton-Mifflin company.
This popular love story of the west now appears for the first time in a separate edition. Illustrated in color by Harrison Fisher and Arthur I. Keller, and bound in blue and gold.

THE STRENGTH OF THE WEAK. By Mary Dixon Thacker. 450 Pp. $1.50. Enoch Pratt Publishing company.
This story deals with the problem of "the other woman" and the race question of the south. It is marked by many intense situations and climaxes.

THE SINGING MOUSE STORIES. By Emersonough. 236 Pp. $1. Bobbs-Merrill company.
"Thoughts," said the Singing Mouse softly, "thoughts and remembrances. These are the things that live forever. It is only the shadows that are real." A delicate whim it is that makes a little mouse, sliding out of the shadows and sitting in the sunlight when all the house is still, the narrator and interpreter in Mr. Hough's book.

THE UNLIVED LIFE OF LITTLE MARY ELLEN. By Ruth McKenney Stewart. 21 Pp. H. Bobbs-Merrill company.
In this new story of Sinkinville, that quaint village, Mrs. Stuart reveals the mysteries of mother-love and the gentle and unselfish kindness of simple hearts. Bizarre, indeed, is the mother-mystery she creates amid that homely setting, and strange the call upon the friendly hearts. She touches our sympathies, and stirs our desires to the end that we are minded to live in charity with all our neighbors.

THE BAINBRIDGE MYSTERY. By Grace Tyler Pratt. 200 Pp. $1.25. Sherman, French & Co.
An interesting story of mystery which remains mystery to the end. There is a pretty love story threading its way through the narrative. The scene of the story is laid in New England, and the characters are well drawn.

THE GOLDEN ROAD. By Frank Walter Allen. 58 Pp. $1.50. Wessels & Bissell company.
The setting of this story is laid in Kentucky. It is a tale of the open road with the spirit of the woods and the river, yet, without, something happens every-now-and-then that's whimsically adventurous. The book has a series of charming illustrations and borders by George Hood.

OPEN WATER. By James B. Connolly. 128 Pp. $1.50. G. P. Putnam's Sons.
A volume of short stories full of the fresh air and flying spray of the sea. They tell of the fisherman of Gloucester, the seaman of the navy and smugglers.

THE RIVER AND I. By John G. Nehardt. 28 Pp. $1. G. P. Putnam's Sons.
Mr. Nehardt tells the story of his decent of the Missouri in quest of exercise, adventure and impressions. Being a poet as well as a man of action, the adventurer had an experience which his temperament and tastes qualified him to enjoy to the full and his recital makes a thrilling narrative.

MOODS AND MEMORIES. By Lucile Beverly Miller.
Sympathy and understanding, light and shadow, enter into this little booklet of verse. Mrs. Miller is a Nebraska girl, who lives in Omaha, which adds interest to her attractive verses.

THE GIRL I LOVED. By James Whitcomb Riley. E. Bobbs-Merrill company.
A Christmas edition of one of Mr. Riley's most charming poems. The cover design and tinted drawings are by Howard Chandler Christy, and the marginal decorations by Margaret Anderson.

RILEY'S SONG OF HOME. By James Whitcomb Riley. 190 Pp. $1.25. The Bobbs-Merrill company.
A collection of songs about "home-folks" and "cheery words," and the practical things of every-day lives and the simple virtues that makes these lives beautiful.

FRONTIER BALLADS. By Joseph Mills Hanson. 92 Pp. H. McClurg & Co.
A collection of poems under three heads—Soldier songs, Prairie songs and River songs—all teeming with the strife and vigor of pioneer life.

THE LURE OF LIFE. By Oliver Oppdyke. 128 Pp. H. Sherman, French & Co.
A collection of short lyrics in varying moods.

POEMS OF ALEXANDER POSEY. Collected and arranged by Mrs. Minnie H. Posey. 130 Pp. H. Crane & Co.
A collection of verse mostly on themes of nature.

THE PILGRIMS. By Isaac C. Ketter. 206 Pp. Fleming H. Revell company.
An epic interpretation of the character and an attempted revelation of the motives which impelled the Pilgrim Fathers to withdraw from the Church of England.

CACTUS AND PINE. By Sharlot M. Hall. 204 Pp. $1.50. Sherman, French & Co.
"The spirit of the west finds animated expression in these poems. The author has lived the life of the southwest and her verse pictures vividly a domain too little known.

THE POEMS OF MAX EHRMANN. 200 Pp. $1.50. Dodge Publishing company.
A complete collection of the shorter prose and verse poems of Mr. Ehrmann, including the "Light of the Sun," a short drama.

DARBY GREEN AND HIS FLYING MACHINE. By John T. Trowbridge. 50 cents. Houghton-Mifflin company.
The first separate edition of this famous poem is laughably illustrated by Wallace Goldman. Every one who witnessed or read about the aviation meets should possess this hilarious classic.

DERBY DAY IN THE YUKON. By Yukon Bill. 128 Pp. H. George H. Doran company.
The rough frontier life of Alaska is here exploited. For the most part the verses are in dialect and narrate various happenings under the Arctic circle.

SIGUARD. By Arthur Peterson. 128 Pp. George W. Jacobs & Co.
Siguard is depicted as a young Norse rover, and the action is supposed to take place about the middle of the fifth century.

His Rolling Passion.
The young man walked for the millionaire's reply.
"I don't blame you for wanting to marry my daughter," said the latter. "And now how much do you suppose you and she can worry along on?"
The youth brightened up.
"I think," he cheerfully stammered, "that $200,000 well invested would produce a sufficient income."
The millionaire turned back to his papers.
"Very well," he said, "I will give you $200,000 providing you raise a similar amount."
And the young man went away sorrowing.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Will Exhibit Big Red Clover from Oregon

Rodman, Land Booster for Deschutes Valley, to Display Products at Land Show.

How they grow red clover thirty-six inches tall for two cuttings a year will be the subject of an exhibit from the Deschutes valley of Oregon at the Omaha land show.
W. S. Rodman, an Omaha real estate agent who is leaving the Nebraska field to grasp the opportunity of the growing northwest, is to put on the land show display. It will be in charge of O. A. Torgerson, an Omaha attorney, who is also to leave for the northwest.
The new town of Rodman is to be the center of the country under development. This town will within three months be served by both the Hill and Harriman systems. The Hill line is all but complete.
"The Deschutes valley is close enough to the coast to get some of the ameliorating influences of the Japanese current," said Mr. Rodman, "so we really have but little winter. The climate is mild and temperate."
"The products of the soil there are of wide range, including grains, grasses and fruits. We are especially proud of the alfalfa. The breaking up of the ranges is making land which will grow these valuable feeds more valuable and there is every indication that our land there will steadily rise in value."

Rodman now has a population of about 30 persons. The town is but 2 years old and in its infancy bears the promise of rapid development. Cook county, in which it is situated, is without saloons. As a measure of the big way things are measured out there it is the boast of the boosters that their county is as big as the state of Massachusetts.

Building Permits.
Kate Wilson, 419 North Thirty-third street, frame dwelling, $2,500; Thomas Spellman, 3024 North Thirtieth street, frame dwelling, $1,000.
